Coal stock in power stations dipped to alarming level: Satyendar Jain

TSN/New Delhi

Coal stock at some power stations in the national capital region has dipped to an "alarming" level and if it is not replenished at the earliest, Delhi could be staring at "black-out" situations, city's Power Minister Satyendar Jain said on Friday.

Jain said that he has already written to Union Power Minister Piyush Goyal apprising him about the situation and sought his intervention into the matter.

"It has been brought to my notice that coal-based generating stations of NCR i.e. Dadri I & II and BTPS (Badarpur Thermal Power Station) are facing coal shortage and at present some of them have coal stock availability for only one or two days," he said in the letter.

Interacting with reporters at his office at the Delhi Secretariat, he said there is a shortage of coal stock at Jhajjar power station too.

"There is no surplus coal at these stations and if the stocks are not replenished, there could be a black-out situation in Delhi," Jain said, adding, "This could become a serious problem, if not addressed timely."

■ Jain said that he has already written to Union Power Minister Piyush Goyal apprising him about the situation and sought his intervention into the matter

According to sources, the situation was brought to the notice of the Delhi government by power distribution companies.

In his letter to the Union Power Minister on May 17, Jain also said, "It has also been gathered that this coal shortage is due to non-availability of transportation rakes/wagons with Indian Railways."

The minister has requested Goyal to "intervene and resolve this crisis-like situation at the earliest" in the interest of consumers of Delhi, and the power sector.

"As you are aware that peak summer season has started and during summer season Delhi experiences very high power demand, this year the peak demand of Delhi is expected to touch 7,000 MW. With the rising temperatures and increasing power demand, this coal stock position is very alarming and needs immediate attention in order to avoid load shedding or any major grid incidents," Jain said in the letter.

He urged Goyal to issue necessary instructions to the ministries/offices concerned to not only resolve the current situation at the earliest, but also to take steps to avoid such situations in the future.

New Delhi

Delhi police on Friday questioned Deputy Chief Minister Manish Sisodia for atleast three hours at his residence in connection with the alleged assault of chief secretary Anshu Prakash.

A team of Delhi led by Additional Deputy Commissioner of police Harender Kumar Singh on Friday reached at Sisodia's house situated in Mathura road around 4:30 pm to question him.

Sources said that the questioning was being carried out at till 7:30 pm. Around 150 questions are being asked from him by the Delhi police, sources said. The questioning proceeding of deputy CM is also being recorded on camera. Two advocates were also present during meeting.

Harender Singh, Additional DCP told media

"Many relevant questions have been asked to Deputy CM in this alleged assault case. He however has given satisfactory answers to some questions but many answers of the questions were not found satisfied," he said.

Police sources said that Sisodia could be questioned further. Police officials however said that the further questioning would be taken only if investigative officer feel required.

Delhi police have been questioned to Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal and other 11 MLAs of Aam Aadami party who were present at CM resident at the time of incident. Four days ago Arvind Kejriwal was questioned for three hours at his home. Kejriwal was reportedly asked over 100 questions.

Arvind Kejriwal had slammed the Centre after his questioning last Saturday. He had alleged that the cases against Aam Aadmi Party were "fake and politically motivated".

The bureaucrat had complained to the police that he was beaten by two legislators as part of a conspiracy between everyone present in the room, a statement that was seen to point finger at the Chief Minister. The chief minister's private secretary Bibhav Kumar was questioned last month in this case.

On February 23, a police team had examined the CCTV system installed at the chief minister's residence in the Civil Lines area and seized the hard disk. The forensic report on the hard disk is still awaited. The controversy had triggered a bitter tussle between the Delhi government and its bureaucracy.

HC slams DU for 'serious lapse' in awarding gold medal

New Delhi

The Delhi High Court has slammed Delhi University for committing a "serious lapse" in preparation of the list to award gold medal in Sociology and directed it to give the gold medal to a former student who had secured the highest marks.

Justice Rekha Palli directed the Delhi University to immediately award the "Kunda Datar Gold Medal" to its 2012-2014 batch student Pratichi Majumdar, who had scored 999 out of 1,600 marks.

The High Court said the varsity has failed to discharge its duties by depriving a meritorious student like the petitioner of the gold medal which she deserved.

It also rejected the submission that Majumdar was not entitled to any relief as she has taken an "inordinate" time of eight months in approaching them to point out the error committed by the varsity.

Justice Rekha Palli directed the Delhi University to immediately award the "Kunda Datar Gold Medal" to its 2012-2014 batch student Pratichi Majumdar, who had scored 999 out of 1,600 marks

"In my considered opinion, the said objection is wholly merit less in view of the facts of the present case, which reveals that the time of eight months taken by the petitioner to approach the Respondents for the necessary correction cannot be treated as laches on her part.

"Even otherwise, the respondents, having failed to discharge their duties in the manner expected of them, a meritorious student like the petitioner cannot be deprived of the Gold Medal which she deserves. For the aforesaid reasons, the writ petition is allowed and respondents (DU and others) are directed to immediately award the Kunda Datar Gold Medal to the petitioner," the judge said.

Majumdar was a student of Delhi School of Economics, Delhi University, who had passed the MA (Sociology) course from the Department of Sociology in August 2014. PTI

Need to get in touch with public to save democracy: Kanhaiya

TSN/New Delhi

Former JNU Students Union President Kanhaiya Kumar on Friday said there was a need to get in touch with public and unite them through communication to save the democracy.

Kumar was speaking at an event 'Building An Inclusive India Citizens Conclave' on the topic titled 'Democracy and Dissent'.

"We have to get in touch with public and unite them. The first mode of communication is through language. There is so much ignorance among the public, because one feels that even if he is ignorant, he can still make it big. Even they are 'bhakts', instead of ignoring them we have to communicate to save the democracy," he said.

Independent researcher Usha Ramanathan said, "In a democracy like India, the UIDAI project was depriving people of their rights just because they do not clear the biometric test. It doesn't produce an identity to us, instead it profiles us as fake profile. If a biometric system does not work, you are not you."

Various other speakers, including activist Jagmati Sangwan, documentary filmmaker Saba Dewan, retired IPS officer Meeran Chadha Borwankar and journalists Rajdeep Sardesai and Siddharth Varadarajan took part in the event.

The three-day event that began today to mark the launch of 'India Inclusive', an informal open platform that offers citizens and civil society across the country to network and preserve constitutional values.
